

ECC Book 2: Homework B for Lesson 27

中文姓名 Chinese Name: _____

1. Word order. Rearrange the given words to make up a sentence that has the same meaning as the English sentence.

a. Regardless of who comes to ask, I will say that he is very good.

很好。 都 我 无论 来问, 要说 谁 他

--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--

b. Hardship (bitterness) and joy (happiness) are all relative; it all depends on how you think.

是 你 相对的, 苦 乐 怎么想。 就看 与

--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--

c. My friend doesn't come, but my books and I accompany each other.

但是 书 我 我朋友 没 相伴。 来, 虽然 跟 我的

--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--

d. The room is small; it doesn't matter. As long as it is pretty, it is okay.

美观 房间 关系。 小, 就行。 没 只要

--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--

2. Translation Translate the following mini dialogues from English into Chinese.

a. A: Some people say learning Chinese is harder (bitterer) than learning French.

B: It is true. But in hardship (bitterness) there is joy.

A: How many years have you studied Chinese?

B: Three and a half.

A: _____

B: _____
A: _____
B: _____

b. A: My head hurts. I don't feel like going to her birthday party anymore (了).

B: Since you said you were going, you still should go.

A: You said it right. Li Mei (李美) is my best friend.

B: Furthermore, tomorrow we have no class.

A: _____
B: _____
A: _____
B: _____

c. A: I like this car.

B: But it is too expensive.

A: Even if I have to borrow money from the bank, I still want to buy it.

B: Really?

A: _____
B: _____
A: _____
B: _____

d. A: I would rather give up (不要) this job than not go with him.

B: How come you love him so much?

A: I don't know.

B: Then, I don't have words to say anymore (了).

A: _____
B: _____
A: _____
B: _____